

Certified Backflow Testing Company Directory

Last Updated: 10/22/20

Requirements

The Eagle River Water & Sanitation District's Backflow Prevention & Cross Connection Control Program, in conjunction with State Drinking Water Regulations, require that all technicians have one of the following certifications, ASSE or ABPA. Please be advised that there are different testing certifications for the type of system where a backflow is installed (Domestic, Irrigation, Fire Sprinkler). Please inquire with the company to verify they are certified to perform work on a specific type of backflow device.

Certified Backflow Testing Company Directory

The Certified Backflow Testing Company Directory below is provided as a resource to assist the District's water service customers in finding a local certified tester to complete annual testing of backflow prevention devices. The District makes no representation regarding the abilities, performance or quality of these resources, nor does the District assume or accept any responsibilities for the actions of any company/tester/installer named on the list. The District recommends that customers exercise judgement when contracting with any testers or installers and to call several companies for pricing and availability. For a comprehensive list of certified testers in the state of Colorado please visit www.bpecc.us/find-a-tester.
